

PD Davis was able to speak to a police official who was involved in this investigation. PD Davis was advised by the subject that all alibi's provided by Don, Hae's current boyfriend, were confirmed and he had been completely ruled out as a possible suspect. PD Davis was also assured that the police had an "air tight" case against Adnan Syed in this case. The police official was confident that they had in fact arrested the correct person.

The only other pre-trial record of Don's alibi comes from the defense files. In March 1999, defense investigator Drew Davis visited the Owings Mills LensCrafters in an attempt to verify that Don was there on 1.13. The manager on duty (who was not the same manager that O'Shea had spoken to) turned Davis away and told him she could not give him any information about Don's alibi:

Private Detective Andrew Davis responded to LensCrafters located in Owings Mills Mall in Owings Mills. PD Davis spoke to manager, [DA]. PD Davis was advised that any information that was obtained from Lens Crafters would have to be obtained through their general manager. PD Davis was also instructed to speak to Detective Joe O'Shea from Baltimore County Police Homicide. No further information could be provided.

...

PD Davis was able to speak to a police official who was involved in this investigation. PD Davis was advised by the subject that all alibi's provided by Don, Hae's current boyfriend, were confirmed and he had been completely ruled out as a possible suspect. PD Davis was also assured that the police had an "air tight" case against Adnan Syed in this case. The police official was confident that they had in fact arrested the correct person.

The police officer that Davis spoke to (presumably O'Shea) neglected to mention that Don's alibi had been "confirmed" by a manager at a store where Don had not worked on the day of the murder and that no store records or eye witnesses could confirm that Don had actually been at Hunt Valley that day.